1 Wednesday, 19 May 2021 1 first, I will ask Mary to invite you to take the oath. 2 2 THE WITNESS: Thank you, Sir Brian. (10.00 am) 3 SIR BRIAN LANGSTAFF: Good morning, Mr Swann. 3 ROBIN SAMUEL SWANN, sworn 4 THE WITNESS: Good morning, sir. 4 Questions by MS RICHARDS 5 5 SIR BRIAN LANGSTAFF: Can you hear me. MS RICHARDS: Good morning, Mr Swann. Can you see and 6 6 THE WITNESS: Yes, I can hear you, sir. hear me? 7 7 SIR BRIAN LANGSTAFF: Whereabouts are you? You're in A. I can, Ms Richards, yes. 8 8 Q. You've been Minister of Health in Northern Ireland Northern Ireland somewhere. 9 9 since January 2020; is that right? THE WITNESS: In a room within the Department of Health 10 here, so one of our conference rooms. 10 A. That's correct, yes. 11 SIR BRIAN LANGSTAFF: You're there on your own or --11 And a member of the Legislative Assembly since 2011? 12 THE WITNESS: Also here -- the IT guy is here with me too 12 A. That's correct, yes. 13 13 to make sure all this works. Q. In broad terms, what are your roles and 14 SIR BRIAN LANGSTAFF: Let me tell you who you are talking 14 responsibilities as Minister of Health? 15 15 to here. Where I sit, I'm in Fleetbank House in A. I have the oversight of the Department here within 16 London and there are around 20 or so people. We have 16 itself and the welfare and wellbeing of the people of 17 17 some who are members of the public who have come to Northern Ireland that comes from that position and 18 18 that role and responsibility. watch. There are some lawyers and members of the 19 staff and the press and, beyond this room, there will 19 Q. When you took up your position in January 2020, what 20 20 be about 100 or so people who will be very keen to did you know and understand about the suffering that 21 watch remotely. I suspect quite a number of those 21 had been experienced and was still being experienced 22 22 will be in Northern Ireland and many of whom you will by those who were infected with HIV and hepatitis C in 23 23 probably know. Northern Ireland and the suffering experienced by 24 24 But that's the audience that you are speaking their families? 25 to. Ms Richards will be asking you the questions but, 25 A. When I took up the position on 11 January it wouldn't 1 2 1 1 individuals, both as those who have been infected but have been a topic that I was greatly aware of but when 2 I took up the post I did receive a comprehensive brief 2 also the individuals who have been affected due to 3 3 and have since met directly with those who have been their loved ones being infected as well. It was 4 infected and affected and heard firsthand of the 4 important as to how I was able to shape and formulate 5 5 suffering that they endured, and have also received my decisions with the advice and support from my 6 6 officials. a number of correspondence cases from those infected 7 7 and affected as well. I think, actually, one of my Q. We'll look in due course again this morning at 8 8 first meetings was actually to meet those who have a fairly detailed written submission made by your 9 9 been infected and affected, in my role as minister. officials to you in March 2020. I think it's right 10 I think that was about 13 February. 10 your attention was drawn in that submission to the 11 Q. We'll look at some of your interactions and the 11 written and oral evidence that had been given by 12 decisions you have taken in due course this morning. 12 infected and affected people to the Inquiry and also 13 In broad terms, has it been important for you to hear 13 to the evidence both written and oral that had been 14 directly from those infected and affected about their 14 given by the psychosocial expert group to this 15 15 experiences and has that helped inform and shape your Inquiry? 16 decision-making? 16 A. That's correct, yes. 17 A. It has very much. One of the things I've done since 17 Q. Now, you obviously were not involved in the decision 18 taking up this role is actually to meet with the 18 to establish the Infected Blood Payment Scheme in 19 people who are infected or affected by any health 19 Northern Ireland and we'll be asking Ms Redmond some 20 20 decision or any procedure that has been of concern and more detailed questions about that in due course later 21 that's why I thought it was important to meet with 21 today. But just so that we can get the key dates and 22 22 those who have been infected and affected in the the chronology established, I think this is right: 23 23 contaminated blood Inquiry at the beginning. So following the decision in July 2016 by the 24 24 that's why I did that within -- I think within a month UK Government, as published in its response to the 25 of taking up position and really engaging with them as 25 consultation that had taken place, the then minister 3 Δ (1) Pages 1 - 4

Q. We've got in the written materials a copy of the statement that she made to the Northern Ireland assembly in that regard. I don't think I need to ask you to look at that.

Is this also right, as far as you're aware, that there was no specific consultation with the infected and affected community in Northern Ireland in advance of that decision?

- A. I would be unaware of that. I think maybe if Dr Redmond could maybe answer that in the next
- Q. Certainly. Have you however gained any particular understanding since you became Minister as to why the decision was taken to replicate the English scheme?
- 19 A. I haven't, no. I think one of the things I did --20 I think it was said in an earlier answer -- when 21 I came into post on 11 January it was about taking the 22 decisions that was within my remit and my gift to make 23 at that time and shaped by the input I had from 24 officials but also having met those who have been 25 infected and affected as well.

- 1 was a scheme, in some sense, frozen in time as at 2 April 2017?
 - A. That would be correct, yes.
 - Q. Would you agree that the effect of that, leave aside whatever the reasons for that state of affairs might have been, the effect of that had been to leave the infected and affected community in Northern Ireland substantially disadvantaged?
 - A. And I think that from taking up post on 11 January, when it was within my gift to make those changes and meet with the families of those infected and affected to see what progress could be taken, and I think you referred to the substantive brief that I received in March as well. So there were a number of issues across this Department and across many departments that had laid waiting for a Minister to be in place to make a number of decisions.
 - Q. Again, just so that we can understand then the factual context for the decisions you then took, if we look at that ministerial submission, it's WITN5570021, please, Soumik. We can see it is a submission addressed to Mr Pengelly and then as Minister, dated 4 March 2020, I'll come back to it again later in the course of my questions to you, but if we just, first of all, turn to page 19, we can see in the table that's set out in

Q. We can pick those matters up then with Ms Redmond later. Now, that decision having been taking by your predecessor in December 2016, January 2017 the Northern Ireland executive collapsed and there was then no Minister for Health until you took over in January 2020; is that right?

- A. That's correct, yes.
- Q. So is this right -- again just in very broad terms, I'm not going to ask you about detail -- the decision having been taken in principle by your predecessor to replicate the English scheme, the officials within the 12 Department of Health made arrangements for that to be 13 administered by, I think, the Regional Business Services Organisation within Northern Ireland but, for the period of time that followed until you took over, the view that was taken was that no substantive amendments could be made because of the lack of a minister.
 - A. That would be my understanding and it would be across a number of the departments, not just within Health during that period, where there were no ministers in
 - Q. So there was effectively -- when you took over there had been, as it were, a vacuum in terms of decision-making and what you inherited, as it were,

- paragraph 46 one of the disadvantages that had been experienced by the community in Northern Ireland was that there had been a divergence between the rates that had been increased in England in April 2019 and the rates that were being paid in Northern Ireland and we can see those rates set out there. We'll come on to see what changes you then made, but that was one of the significant disadvantages, was it not, that the community in Northern Ireland had experienced?
- A. That would be correct, yes.
- Q. Then if we go to page 22, paragraph 54, please, Soumik -- which is the bottom half of the page -- we can see under the heading "Other financial support", we can see it says that:

"Prior to April 2019, Northern Ireland had parity with England on regular payments. However, there was no parity on other financial aspects of the scheme, including:

"Special Category Mechanism ..." So there was none in Northern Ireland: "Income top-ups -- in England, both the rates and income thresholds are higher than in Northern Ireland (where the legacy Caxton and Macfarlane lower rates are still used), and; [then]

"Discretionary support (one-off grants) --

8 (2) Pages 5 - 8

1 England has a formal policy on discretionary support, 1 "The Executive will bring about parity in 2 2 while policy is yet to be adopted in Northern financial support to victims of contaminated blood in 3 Ireland." 3 Northern Ireland with those in England." 4 Now, again, we'll ask Ms Redmond some more 4 Do you know why new deal, new approach sought to 5 5 bring about parity with England, as opposed to any detailed questions about some of these matters but 6 6 that's what you inherited, effectively? other part of the United Kingdom at that stage? 7 7 A. That's correct, yes. I'm not aware of why that final text was actually 8 8 Q. Now, your appointment had followed the deal to restore included in that format because New Decade, New 9 9 devolved Government in Northern Ireland, "new decade, Approach was a deal drafted between UK and the Irish 10 new approach", and if we can just turn to that, 10 Governments in an attempt to restore devolution here 11 please. Soumik, it's WITN557002 -- sorry, 0002, my 11 in Northern Ireland. So it was a comprehensive 12 12 document that had taken input from all of the 13 13 So we can see there "New Decade, New Approach", political parties who had an ability to be in the 14 and we can see the date over the next page, 14 Executive but also both governments as well. So it 15 15 January 2020, and then if we go to the next page we was, I suppose, a culmination of things that all 16 can see that it comprises in part an articulation of 16 parties wanted to see. So I'm unaware as to why 17 17 priorities of the restored Executive and then England was specifically included as the reference 18 18 an agreement in relation to the formation of point in that document. 19 a Northern Ireland Executive. 19 Q. To your knowledge, has there been, either at any time 20 20 Then if we go to -- Soumik, I think it's page 9. since 2017 or at any time since 2020 when you took up 21 Yes, so if we look at the bottom half of the page 21 your post, any kind of full or comprehensive 22 22 these are some of the priorities that were being assessment of the actual needs of or losses sustained 23 23 identified and if we look toward the bottom of the by victims in Northern Ireland? 24 page, just above the blue heading "Developing a new 24 A. We have had a wide-ranging consultation that 1 Q. We can see, Mr Swann, this is a publication of 6 6 Q. Is that something which your Department and you are 27 January 2020, and it says: 7 open to considering? 7 "Health Minister Robin Swann has announced 8 8 A. Most certainly, yes. 1 Then there's various statements that you make. 2 Can you just tell us a little about the 3 background and your own decision-making which led to 4 this announcement? 5 A. In regards to this announcement, as this statement 6 says, under New Decade, New Approach there was 7 a commitment there from the Executive in the January 8 monitoring round of that year. It is for our 9 Department of Finances what excess spends have been

Decade, New Approach. It was also coupled with the announcement of a three-phased review of the Northern Ireland scheme so really the first interim initial payments was to start us on that process and to work our way towards parity, but also after having engaged with the families of those who had been infected and affected and affected and so if we look at the record of that, it's WITN5570004, please, Soumik.

We can see it is dated 13 February 2020. A number of those in attendance we've redacted names for obvious reasons but it included, I think, both campaigning representatives of organisations and individuals who had been infected and affected.

Then if we look at the bottom of the page, we can see it says:

"Key points discussed:

"The Minister set out the current position in relation to financial support:

"interim payments announced on 27 January was a decision Minister had taken on his own and he apologised if it was taken the wrong way."

What did you mean by that?

A. I think it was a recognition to a misunderstanding or any hurt that had been caused by the fact that I hadn't used the whole £1 million and it had been referred to as an interim payment; I think some of the families had misinterpreted that as an intention that I wasn't fully committed. But I think after the meeting that we had, I hope (unclear: audio interference) that it was my intention as minister to use the full amount but also to do it after having met fully make up the difference between the Northern 2 Ireland rates and the English rates; is that right?

A. That's correct, yes. It was that first step also and, as I say, we announced at the same stage was the three-phase review. So we had that engagement with those who have been infected and affected.

Q. Yes, and I may ask you a little more about those three phases shortly.

Now, this refers to the allocation of £1 million through the Department of Finance's general monitoring round. I think it is right to say that the announcement that was made at this first stage, January 2020, didn't use the full £1 million allocation; is that correct?

- A. That's correct because something they wanted to do as well was to assess what support could be given to those who had also been bereaved as well. So that wasn't included in this initial announcement, so they wanted to make, I suppose, that first step as has been described as but also to make sure that there still was some monies to do other things that we may -- seem necessary or may want to do after having had that engagement.
- Q. Then we can see that -- I think the next step you took was a meeting with some of those who had been infected with them and consulted with them and that's why I think the second bullet point there actually commits to the spending the remaining allocation before the end of that financial year.

Q. If we go on to the third page, we can see -- if we pick it up after the first three bullet points we can see that part of the meeting was attendees describing to you the impact of being infected or affected then we can see a little further down about halfway down the page that each member of the group attending recounted their personal experience and a number of particular matters are there set out embracing a range of different detrimental impacts.

> The meeting's described later in this notice as having been a very emotional one. What impact did it have on you, Mr Swann?

A. Jenni, it was an emotional meeting. It was a challenging meeting for me as well because I hadn't only been in this post for the first four weeks. It was a meeting that I thought it was necessary for me to have, to get the full understanding, but some of the things that I heard coming from those who had been infected and affected was challenging to hear. It's not something that I expected, as Minister of Health, to have had occurred to people of Northern Ireland as

1 part of a service that should have been delivered 1 Then it records you saying -- referring to the 2 2 safely by the Health Service here. So, and as I said meeting that we've just been talking about and talking 3 3 in some of my opening comments, since taking up this about your reaction to the suffering that they have 4 post (unclear: audio interference) important to engage 4 had to endure. 5 5 with people rather than simply policy or procedure. Then if we go over the next page, we can see at 6 6 So, as far as I'm concerned, as Minister of Health, the top of the page you talking about the hurt that 7 it's our people at -- are at the centre of the 7 the divergence with England had caused in Northern 8 8 service. So that's why I thought it was important to Ireland. Then if we go halfway down the page, just 9 9 have this meeting and the meeting note does say how after the bold print it says: 10 challenging this meeting was and acknowledges that. 10 "In addition to the payments to those infected 11 Q. Now, the following month, March 2020, we can see that 11 individuals on the scheme, the Minister has also 12 a further decision was taken in terms of payments. 12 announced that he will make a one-off payment of So if we go to, Soumik, WITN5570006, please. Again, I was conscious, after having received the 20 Ireland Infected Blood Payment Scheme who were 21 diagnosed with Hepatitis C or HIV after receiving 21 brief from officials and having spoken to the families 22 22 NHS-supplied infected blood. of those infected and affected, that it was something 23 23 "Announcing the additional one-off payments, that we didn't have here in Northern Ireland in 24 24 which bring the Northern Ireland scheme into line with regards to a payment for non-infected widows or 25 the scheme in England for 2019/20 ..." 25 widowers and, as I said in there earlier, the 17 18 1 1 contribution in regards to the £1 million, I wanted to "emphasised that the £5k payments were one-off." 2 2 make sure that we could explore the avenue for that Then if we go over the page and we pick it up in 3 3 the fourth paragraph, we can see it says: within that £1 million one-off allocation and also, 4 from additional resources within my department, we 4 "Minister stated that budget is for one year 5 5 were able to make that initial payment for those only and that this year and next year 'are covered'. 6 6 non-infected widows and widowers who were actually While he did not know what his tenure as Minister 7 part of the Northern Ireland scheme. 7 would be he hoped that any future Health Minister 8 8 Q. That's correct, yes. 18 "confirmed that he would make payments that 18 Q. If we just then go back -- sorry -- to the previous 19 would achieve 100% parity with England on infected 19 page, page 2, again, if we just look at that fourth 20 beneficiaries payments for 2019/20; 20 paragraph which I read out, is it right to understand 21 "confirmed that he was also making a one-off 21 that at this point you were not able to give 22 payment of £5,000 to all 17 non-infected 22 a longer term commitment in relation to payments or 23 23 widows/widowers; future steps towards achieving parity? 24 24 "referred to there being £1m in the draft budget A. There's then reference in paragraph 9 to 3 3 the English increase in April 2019, which led to this working under the financial constraints of a single 4 annual one-year budget, step by step. So we only get 4 divergence with Northern Ireland. 5 5 our allocations on a 12-monthly basis across any If we go to the top of the next page, we can see 6 6 department, so it does make those long-term it says: 7 commitments, financial commitments, challenging, which 7 "This increase in payments by the English scheme 8 8 I hope that part of this Inquiry can address, that resulted in an unforeseen and sudden disparity with 9 9 these are actually embedded long-term -- long-term Northern Ireland." 10 recommendations and commitments from me and my 10 Just pausing there, again -- obviously, again, 11 successors. 11 conscious as I am that this pre-dates your appointment 12 Q. I just want to go back to the submission. We looked 12 but based upon what you have learnt from officials for 13 13 the purposes of your own decision-making, is it your at it briefly earlier but the submission that you had 14 received from officials within your department, prior 14 understanding that Northern Ireland did not know in 15 15 to making your announcement in late March 2020. So, advance that these increases were going to be made in 16 Soumik, if we can go back to WITN5570021, I just want 16 spring 2019? 17 17 to start by going to a background section, so if we go A. I would be unable to comment on that in detail, 18 to page 4, please, under the heading "Background", 18 Ms Richards, in regards to what engagement had been 19 there are some paragraphs which set out matters which 19 had at official level but my understanding from that 20 20 pre-date your appointment, Mr Swann, but this was brief would have been as it says there, that they 21 a submission being addressed to you, so I just want to 21 resulted in unforeseen and sudden disparity, that that 22 22 see whether you have any further understanding or can announcement wouldn't have been fully understood or 23 23 cast any further light on these matters. discussed with officials. I think Ms Redmond can 24 24 So we can see paragraph 8 summarises the period update that in her deliberations afterwards. 25 when there were five UK-wide schemes and then each 25 Q. We can take that up as necessary with her. Then 21 22 1 1 paragraph 11 -- again, this is before your appointment January 2020 of this extra £400 million, which was 2 2 said to have been allocated to Northern Ireland and but it's not long before your appointment and I'm 3 3 hoping that you will have had some understanding of what it was intended to cover? 4 what the financial position was when you then took up 4 A. Well, from reading that paragraph and that commitment 5 5 your post. This says that on 4 September, in the as well, the 400 million was allocated to Northern 6 6 Chancellor's Spending Round speech announcing Northern Ireland but there was no specific allocation for 7 Ireland's Barnett consequentials allocation it quotes 7 infected blood and I think that's what we covered in 8 8 the Chancellor as saying there was an extra an earlier document where you actually see the 9 9 400 million for Northern Ireland and then saying --£1 million that I received came in a monitoring round 10 welcoming: 10 but a submission in January from our own Department of 11 "... the case made by the DUP for improved 11 Finance, but at that point in September 2019 there was 12 hospice care, and support for those that have been 12 none of that £400 million was specifically allocated 13 tragically wronged in the contaminated blood scandal. 13 to the Department of Health to cover those issues. 14 Those are rightly devolved matters, but I sincerely 14 Q. Then if we can turn on in this document to -- I think 15 15 hope that the Northern Ireland Administration will use it's page 38, Soumik. No, it's not, sorry. Forgive 16 some of the new funding we're providing today to 16 me. It's paragraph 38. It's page 17, Soumik. You 17 17 address those issues." will see there the heading "Meaning of 'parity'", and 18 18 I just wanted to look at some of the paragraphs with Then the comment from your officials is: 19 "However, there was no new money allocated to 19 you and then explore, again from your perspective as 20 20 Northern Ireland specifically for infected blood in Minister and your Department's perspective, the 21 the spending round and these comments only served to 21 approach to parity. So paragraph 38 refers to the 22 22 raise expectations." commitment in New Decade, New Approach, which we've 23 23 Again, we can obviously pick this up with already looked at, and then paragraph 39 says this: 24 24 Ms Redmond as necessary but what was your "There is no consensus as to what parity between 25 understanding when you took up your post in 25 the [Northern Ireland] and English schemes would mean in practice. In particular, it could relate to going beyond simply the regular payments to include parity on areas where differences between the two schemes existed prior to April 2019, including discretionary support (one-off grants), income top-ups and the Special Category Mechanism. Work on these elements of the scheme was paused in 2017, in the absence of a Minister and following the announcement of the Inquiry.

"The term 'greater parity' is taken from Jackie Doyle Price's statement about the uplift in England. This expression implies that there are degrees of parity, ie that 'parity' does not necessarily mean uniformity. The term 'convergence' would have been more useful but English ministers have raised an expectation that parity effectively means uniformity [go over the page] in financial support across the UK. This is despite specific agreement at the four-nation Ministerial discussion in July 2019 (in which Richard Pengelly took part) that we should aim for 'parity of support' -- ie ensuring that those infected and affected received a level of support (both financial and non-financial) which addressed their needs. In practice, such an approach would mean that individuals receive a higher or lower level of factors to take into account.

Then if we go -- if I can find the reference to -- paragraph 62, page 26, the submission to you said this at paragraph 62:

"It is clear that the impacts on people bereaved through infected blood and their needs in terms of financial and other assistance, demand serious and urgent consideration and appropriate responses. For immediate purposes the main parameter for this decision is the amount secured in January Monitoring. This was based on the sum needed to provide 'parity' with the English scheme, albeit in 2019/20 only. NDNA commits to 'bringing about parity' [so that's New Deal, New Approach]. The focus of groups of infected/affected people campaigning for parity has been the restoration of parity in those payments where there was parity between [Northern Ireland] and England until April 2019. While there are interpretation issues with the word 'parity', in plain English it is synonymous with 'equality'."

Then there's a discussion of different options and we know what your ultimate decision was. We've looked at that.

Mr Swann, the reason for taking you to that is to try and understand what, as at March 2020, your financial support in different regions, recognising local circumstances (eg relevant costs and other factors)."

Then paragraph 41 refers to Northern Ireland campaigners having taken up parity with England as their goal. If we then go to paragraph 42, it says:

"A further consideration is the preservation of devolved authority in this matter. A permanent or indefinite commitment to replicate the provisions in the English scheme may not be possible if this would bind the hands of any future [Northern Ireland] Minister of Health as regards tailoring the [Northern Ireland] scheme more closely to the needs of its beneficiaries. While some form of parity is agreed at ministerial level, GB Health Ministers are in agreement that this should be done while respecting the devolved status of health to allow some flexibility in each country's scheme.

"While this Department is working to establish a defensible rationale for changes to the Scheme, we are aware that English Ministers' decision to raise payments in 2019 was a political decision not, underpinned by any such rationale, so that there is no DHSC analysis from which we could extrapolate."

Then paragraph 44 refers to there being many approach was to parity. What were you trying to achieve in terms of achieving parity, given that there appears to have been a description here of there being possibly different ways of understanding what parity means?

- A. No, and it was the reference in paragraph 62 about bringing about parity, my intention was to move to the same payments as there had been within the English scheme and make sure that we were matching those as an initial step, and that's why I took that stepped approach when we had those monies and the decisions and the announcement that I actually made earlier in 2020 to do that.
- Q. So is this right, in terms of the regular payments, your approach to parity was, essentially as set out here, equality with the English scheme?
- A. That's correct, yes.
 - Q. I may come on to ask you a little more in due course when we look at more recent developments about some of the other aspects, in particular what's proposed in terms of the Special Category Mechanism. Again, just taking it chronologically, if we can then move to the following month, April 2020, and look at WITN5570007, please, Soumik. Now, this is a letter written by you, 9 April 2020, again to representatives of campaigning

So that's what you 15 A. That would be correct, yes. 16 Q. If we then move forward to August 2020, WITN5570008 we 16 hadn't been able to give in March, as it were, 17 17 can see what I think was in chronological order your a commitment that this would now be the baseline for 18 next announcement. So this is 30 August 2020: 18 the payments going forward? 19 "Health Minister Robin Swann has announced 19 A. If we go to the third page, Soumik, "34 respondents were not aware that 3 3 we can see, halfway down the page, it says: psychological support is available from the Belfast 4 "In addition to the uplift in rates to those 4 Health & Social Care Trust for patients and families 5 infected beneficiaries on the [Northern Ireland] 5 affected by contaminated blood or the Infected Blood 6 6 Infected Blood Payment Scheme, Minister Swann also Inquiry ...' 7 announced his intention to conduct a survey of all 7 Then it refers to the numbers who were using it. 8 8 scheme beneficiaries in Northern Ireland, to seek Given the numbers who I think responded to the 9 9 feedback on other support provided both financial and survey, that's a fairly significant number who were 10 in terms of psychological support." 10 not aware of the psychological support service. 11 11 I know the service itself is provided by the Belfast Now, although it takes us perhaps slightly out 12 of chronological order, I just wanted to ask you 12 Health and Social Care Trust and obviously not 13 13 a couple of questions about the survey results. So if directly by the Department of Health but do you know 14 we go to WITN5570020, we can see there this is the 14 what, if any, steps have been taken since receipt of 15 15 beneficiary survey, the report summarising it, this survey report to try and increase awareness about 16 October 2020, and I'm not going to ask you about the 16 the psychological support service? 17 17 detailed representations about financial support. A. It is engagement through the work of the Belfast Trust 18 18 and through their multidisciplinary teams to make sure It's right, in broad terms, to say that there were 19 a number of responses received with suggestions as to 19 that any of those patients who are coming forward are 20 how the financial support arrangements could be 20 aware of the multidisciplinary team approach. It's --21 improved. 21 something that we want to provide is that 22 22 A. That's correct, yes. psychological support, to all those who have been 23 23 Q. Then if we go on to page 9, I just want to pick up infected as well, to make sure that it's there to meet 24 24 an issue about psychological support. If we look at their needs and support them as well, because it was 25 the heading "Section Eight: Psychological/mental 25 also something that was highlighted as well through 33 34 1 1 the conversations and meetings we had, even back in annual financial support for those bereaved as 2 2 February 2020. a result of NHS contaminated blood. 3 Q. Again, I think this is right, perhaps you can confirm 3 "The annual payments will be made to people 4 your understanding: the psychological support service, 4 registered on the Northern Ireland Infected Blood 5 5 unlike the financial support, is not limited to Payment Scheme who have not been infected by 6 6 widows, widowers, spouses, partners, it's open to contaminated blood but have been left bereaved 7 a broader range of family members; is that correct? 7 following the death of a spouse or partner who 8 8 A. What, if anything, is the long-term commitment to the NHS-supplied infected blood or blood products in 10 funding of the psychological support service? 10 Northern Ireland." 11 A. That, again, Ms Redmond can follow up on that in her 11 Then if we go to the bottom of the page, it 12 evidence but it would be my understanding that the 12 says: 13 Department is working with the Belfast Trust to make 13 "The payments represent a Departmental funding 14 sure that that support is there and (unclear: audio 14 commitment of around £400,000 annually and range from 15 15 interference) the Inquiry actually finishes as well, £14,079 pounds to £33,561 per year. These payments 16 because it was initially instigated for the duration 16 will be backdated to April 2020 and will continue into 17 17 of the Inquiry but we have seen the benefit that it is future years, rising annually with inflation." 18 18 bringing, so it would be a direction of travel that it Then if we go to the next page, please, Soumik, 19 would be long-term rather than the fixed term. 19 if we look at paragraph 4, towards the top of the 20 20 Q. Then if we then move forward in time to the next page, it says: 21 announcement, which I think you made in terms of 21 "The new payments for non-infected bereaved 22 22 changes to the scheme, we're now early March 2021, beneficiaries are calculated at 75 per cent of the 23 23 WITN5570017. Then we see the details of the different payments for the different categories of infection there set out. Is it right to understand that this is the first time that regular annual payments for the bereaved had been introduced in Northern Ireland?

- A. That's correct and, again, I think it was the next step after having made the initial £5,000 payment, earlier the previous year, that it was my intention and direction of travel that those who had been bereaved would also receive that payment as well.
- Q. We see it's 75 per cent of the payment that the spouse or partner was receiving or would have received. So is it right to understand that this is essentially drawn on the Scottish model but without the 100 per cent payment that the Scottish model provides for the first year following bereavement?
- A. That's correct, yes.

- 18 Q. It's also right, I think, to understand, fairly 19 clearly from this, these are payments that are limited 20 to spouses or partners who have been bereaved. No 21 wider family member can receive these payments?
- 22 A. No, that's -- it is for spouse or partner.
 - Q. Again, that's an issue I want to come back to a bit more generally.

Chronologically we then get to the announcement

- Q. Do you consider, as Minister for Health in Northern Ireland, and leave aside any questions of legal responsibility, but do you consider that there is a moral responsibility on the part of Government generally and in Northern Ireland to try and address the impacts and the suffering that people have experienced?
- A. There is, yes, and I think there's a moral responsibility not just on the Department of Health here in Northern Ireland or NI Executive but Government as a whole to make that acknowledgement and also to do what we can -- to do what -- to do what we can to make sure that's corrected, but also to consider what is in line with a sort of moral responsibility for those who have been both infected and affected.
- Q. We looked at the submission that your officials provided to you in March 2020. I'm not going to go back to it but there were references there to the role of devolution, if I can put it that way. What role does devolution or the particular needs or demands of communities in Northern Ireland play in the attitude and decision-making of the Northern Ireland Executive in this regard?

made by the Paymaster General later in March 2021, but I want to come back to that towards the end of my submissions and explore with you a little more widely what discussions have taken place between the four nations. So we will, as it were, park that for now.

Can I ask then, in broad terms what's your understanding -- sorry, we can take that down, Soumik -- what's your understanding or the understanding within the Northern Ireland Department of Health as to the rationale for these payments? What are they designed to cover or reflect?

- A. To support those who have been infected or affected due to the contaminated blood, the challenges and the stresses and strains that they have faced as individuals and as families since those incidents have occurred.
- Q. Is it right to understand and do you accept that the payments within the current scheme, whether as originally set up or as amended following your decisions, they are not intended to account for or compensate for past losses, they pay, with some backdating in some cases, a sum of money on an annual basis to assist people in meeting living expenses. Is that their essential purpose?
- A. That would be my understanding of what these payments

- 1 A. I suppose it is the aspect of devolution where we want 2 to ensure that we're best placed to respond to the 3 needs of Northern Ireland beneficiaries. There are 4 common issues across the UK where we can work together 5 but I think it's when we do work as a United Kingdom 6 and those four parts coming together, something that 7 we've seen during the recent pandemic -- and I think 8 it's when we do work together and give that commitment 9 as four nations working for the good of, the benefit 10 of all four parts of our constituencies, and that's 11 where the Paymaster General's announcement on 25 March 12 in regards to working with all the devolved
- 13 authorities as well, to make sure that we consult on 14 any further changes to the scheme so that we can, in 15 future, avoid the disparities that have happened in 16 the past.
- 17 Q. Now, in terms of the general funding arrangements for 18 the Department of Health -- and again, I'm sure 19 Ms Redmond will be able to perhaps address this in 20 some more detail, but in broad terms is it right to 21 understand that funding in respect of HIV payments 22 comes from the Department of Health and Social Care?
 - A. That is correct to my understanding but Ms Redmond can verify that for you.
- 25 Q. Do you have any particular understanding of why the 40

- Q. Do you know whether there have been any particular difficulties in accessing or receiving this funding from the Department of Health and Social Care?
- A. Not that has been brought to my attention in my term
- Q. In that case, we will pick up perhaps some of the more specific points with Ms Redmond on that.

In terms of long-term commitment, the current scheme, and we can look at the service level agreement or directions if necessary, but the current scheme in Northern Ireland, in common I think with the schemes in other parts of the United Kingdom, uses the concept of making ex gratia payments -- that's the terminology -- and an ex gratia payment is a payment with no obligation, as it were.

So a scheme based upon ex gratia payments won't necessarily give the kind of assurance or reassurance of long-term commitments that the infected and affected community may desire and need. To what extent are you, as Minister for Health or as

1 Ireland, and I would hope that any of my successors 2 can also look at it in that approach as well.

- Q. And are you able to assist with this: is it, do you think, understood by both the Department of Health and colleagues in the Northern Ireland Executive that the absence of assurance, reassurance, long-term commitment, may significantly increase the suffering, the anxiety and distress that individuals have experienced and may mean they are unable to make life decisions in reliance upon receiving future payments?
- A. I do, Ms Richards, and I think that's one of the points that was raised and you referred to that back from my first announcement in regards to what we did as an interim payment. I am acutely aware of the uncertainty and the challenges that every one of these announcements actually brings to individuals who have been infected and affected, so that long-term reassurance and commitment both from HMG, from the Paymaster General, but also from the Northern Ireland Executive is crucial and I think it was important that we do refer back to the New Decade, New Approach where that commitment was made in regards to what was basically the foundation document for the restoration of devolution here in Northern Ireland back in January of last year.

a representative of the Department of Health in the Northern Ireland Executive, able to give any kind of assurance that payments for the infected and affected will continue for their lifetime?

5 A. I can give the assurances and the commitments that 6 I can while I'm in this office, and the payments have 7 been set down and are there. This Inquiry will also 8 make its recommendations as well and that's what our 9 phase 3 will introduce as well. So I hope and I will 10 be seeking that any successor to my appointment also 11 honours the commitments that I have made in this 12 office to those who have been infected and affected, 13 so that those payments that have been established are 14 continued as well. But that will involve the support 15 of all my Executive colleagues, which also in Northern 16 Ireland brings about the peculiarity of it involves 17 a number of political parties actually having that 18 understanding as well which I think we have the 19 support of here in Northern Ireland, because even if 20 you go back to the meeting that we had in February, 21 you will see that there was -- two political 22 representatives attended with those families, 23 Martina Anderson from Sinn Féin and Roy Beggs from the 24 Ulster Unionist Party. So this is an issue that 25 doesn't touch on political divides here in Northern

- 1 Q. I want to ask you next about two aspects that are not 2 covered by the existing scheme, either in Northern 3 Ireland or elsewhere in the United Kingdom. The first 4 is financial support for those infected with 5 hepatitis B in consequence of infected blood or blood 6 products. Has the Northern Ireland Executive or the
- 7 Department of Health to your knowledge ever expressly 8 considered the inclusion of financial support for 9 those infected with hepatitis B?
- 10 A. It's not something I am aware of, Ms Richards, or 11 I have in front of me, but if Ms Redmond can't follow 12 up on it we will respond to you in writing on that 13 point, if that would be okay.
 - Q. Am I right to understand you don't know if consideration has been given to it and you don't know what the reasons are for its exclusion; is that correct?
- 18 A. That's correct at this minute. It's not something 19 I have -- it's not something I have with me or in my 20 head at this point in time. 21
 - Q. The second relates to the limited scope of financial support for those who have been bereaved. So as we've already established through your answers, and indeed the announcements you've made, the payments (both the one-off payments and the annual payments that you announced at the beginning of March of this year) are for those whose spouse or partner has died but there's no wider financial support, for example, for adult children whose parents have died or for parents whose children died. What is the justification for limiting bereavement payments, whether one-off or regular, to spouses and partners?

A. My understanding would be the identification of who would be eligible and whether that would be a wide-ranging number of individuals should there be no children where that would go to next.

One of the things we have actually done is put that the bereavement payable, or the bereavement payment, that £10,000, would be part of the estate of the deceased in cases where there is no spouse or partner and that's part of our recent scheme reforms as well. So that rather than identifying children or next of kin that it actually goes into the estate where that can be dealt with legally.

Q. We'll come on to that --

1 think of any logical justification for limiting 2 financial support to spouses and partners?

> A. I suppose it would be -- the challenge would be the identification of who would be eligible and when they would be eligible, but it's not something that we have ruled out and I say, you know, we'll engage with the other four nations, the Paymaster General and await the out-workings of this Inquiry in regards to how that can be done if that is the direction of travel.

As I say, I'm fully aware that that is an issue that has been raised by families and individuals, but also as part of our survey response as well.

- Q. Now, I want to come on to the discussions that have taken place on a four nation basis. I'll come to the March 2021 announcement in a few moments or in a few minutes but, first of all, can you assist us with what, if any, involvement you as a minister have had, or to your knowledge your officials have had, in discussions with the other three nations regarding parity since January 2020?
- A. Prior to the announcement by the Paymaster General my officials did provide an input to a detailed costing exercise. They participated in a number of discussions across the four nations in order to develop proposals to bring the schemes into broader able to claim and who that might benefit, the Northern Ireland scheme -- in common, I should say, with other schemes -- makes no provision for other categories of relatives who may themselves have been financially affected and will certainly have been profoundly affected in mental and psychological terms by loss of child, loss of parent, two of the greatest losses imaginable. That's not been a feature of any of the schemes historically, and one task for the Inquiry is to try and understand why, and whether it is something that should be a feature of those schemes.

First of all, is it something you've ever been asked to expressly consider as Minister?

- A. It is something that was actually raised in the surveys that we did as well, as part of the feedback that we got there as well. So it is something that we're aware of, it is something we're aware that this Inquiry may also look at as well, and that will come into our phase 3 when we make that -- you know, the three-phased approach we took in regards of this four nations.

Q. So that was a March of this year meeting. Prior to that, between January 2020 and that meeting in March, had you been involved at ministerial level in any discussions with your fellow ministers in the other 10 nations about steps that could be taken to achieve 11 parity?

12 A. No.

13 Q. In terms of the work that officials had been 14 undertaking, so officials within your department, 15 costings were put together as to what funding Northern 16 Ireland might require in order to achieve greater 17 parity, and those were submitted to the Westminster 18 Government. Do you know of any other particular 19 engagement or meetings that your officials 20 participated in?

21 A. I wouldn't have the detail but, again, Ms Redmond 22 could update on the specifics of those.

23 Q. From your perspective, and again I'm conscious you, as 24 it were, came in in January 2020 and there had already 25 been some in principle discussions in 2019 to explore

I just have a number of questions arising out of both the process and the nature of the changes being made. Can we go back to the previous page, bottom half of the page. So we can see, Mr Swann, that your announcement there is said to be subject to funding from HM Treasury and we heard yesterday from your Scottish counterparts that they are still waiting for formal confirmation of the funding. What's the position in relation to Northern Ireland? Are you still waiting for some kind of confirmation from the Westminster Government and, if so, what's your expectation?

- A. My understanding is -- the expectation is that as this commitment has been made by the Paymaster General that that is a matter of process rather than any uncertainty of it.
- 17 Q. So you are expecting the funding to be made?

 - Q. Did you know in advance of the four ministers' meeting that took place in March that you've referred to that the further funding that had been sought by the Paymaster General was going to be made available or was that communicated during the meeting or after?
 - A. That was communicated through the meeting.
 - Q. Then if we just then look at -- there's some other points of detail here. The payments for non-infected bereaved spouses or partners backdated to 1 April 2019, has any consideration been given to backdating that further, at least to the inception of the scheme, and if so what are the reasons for backdating only to 2019?
 - A. My understanding, and again, Ms Redmond can maybe update that, but that was in line with the funding and making sure we were aligned across the DAs, and that's why that date was suggested. I'm not sure of any further rationale for that being appointed at this time but if there is I can provide that in writing to you.

implement those?

- A. Well, we are currently waiting on that update from the Cabinet Office and I would hope to be receiving it soon but the Cabinet Office and the Paymaster General will be best placed to say exactly when that transfer will be made but we've made it very clear in this that it is our intention to make these payments.
- 8 Q. You obviously had some advance notice of the Paymaster 9 General's announcement on 25 March because you were 10 able to formulate your own statement, as we've seen, 11 but what can you tell us further about the information 12 that was provided to you, whether by the Department of 13 Health and Social Care or the Cabinet Office, in the 14 course of March? How and when did you learn that 15 additional funding was in principle going to be made 16 available?
- 17 A. As I say, that was mostly done through official 18 engagement in the first ministerial level was actually 19 the meeting that was held and chaired by the Paymaster 20 General with the four Ministers from the devolved 21 authorities. So in regards to the announcement, that 22 was done through collaboration between the 23 Departments. So there was a consistency of approach 24 and message in that across all the devolved 25 administrations, so that we did not cause the anxiety

- 1 Q. Then in relation to the second bullet point, the 2 question of enhanced support, again do you know why
 3 that's going to be backdated only to April 2019,
 4 bearing in mind that I think in England the Special 5 Category Mechanism had been introduced in the 6 autumn of 2017?
 - A. I'm not aware why that date is specifically mentioned at that point.
 - Q. What's the plan in terms of the model because, obviously, your statement suggests there is still work to be done on a model and a proposal of a consultation with stakeholders. What's your best estimate of how long the process of developing that model is going to
 - A. With the team that we have working, I have committed to the introduction of that enhanced support payment for those who are eligible, and officials will shortly commence that work in developing that assessment model, actually in consultation with stakeholders.

 And this work unfortunately has unavoidably been delayed due to the urgent work that we are taken required to do because of requests for information and the Inquiry specifically in the recent weeks. We only have a small team within the department who have both responsibility for the work in regards to the Northern

A. Well, when I came in to the role in January 2017, the decision had already been taken over the Northern Ireland scheme by the Minister for Health, who left the post in January, just a couple of weeks after I started my job, actually. At that time, my understanding from talking to my staff and looking back over the records is the intention had been for Northern Ireland to join up with England in a tender to appoint an administrator. My understanding is that that remained the intention until early March 2017 when we were notified that England was going to go alone with this and appoint their own administrator in England. So we were left in a position of deciding where we would go for an administrator.

The Businesses Services Organisation -- we tend to shorthand that to BSO -- has got a legal basis for delivering administrative services (unclear: audio interference), so it was actually quite quickly we moved to exploring their appointment to administer this scheme, and we presented a business case of our Department, which we had approved and I think by the end of that very month we had agreed that this was the way forward.

Q. Is it right that there's only one member of staff at you what, if anything, you know about how that decision was made and the reasons why that decision was made.

Do you know whether or not there was any consideration given by the Department of Health and/or by the Minister as to following the scheme in the Republic of Ireland?

- A. As you have rightly said, I wasn't there or part of the development of those policy proposals that went to the Minister but I think there was awareness of it but that was not the main focus or part of the recommendations made to her.
- Q. Do you know why that was the case, why the recommendations made to her were not to follow the scheme as set up in the Republic of Ireland?
- A. I think the recommendations didn't provide that as an option, as far as I can see, and I don't know the reason why that is.
- 19 Q. Do you --
 - A. I wasn't in post at that time.
- Q. Do you know why the decision was made not to followthe Scottish scheme?
- A. There was an issue of a cost differential which was quite significant. From looking at the papers, I'm just taking this on the back of looking at the papers the BSO, who's the scheme manager Colin Murray -- only one member of staff concerned with the scheme, Colin Murray, the scheme manager?

- 4 A. At this time that's correct, yes.
 - Q. Are you able to tell us how many -- just to set your evidence in context, how many beneficiaries there are in the scheme as of now?
- 8 A. Yes. There's 104. As I understand it, it's the 9 latest number. But, obviously, that number fluctuates 10 over time. So that's just a snapshot.
- Q. You have already told us that at the point that you took up your post, or a couple of weeks after you took up your post, the Northern Ireland Assembly collapsed.
 At the point you took up your post, the Health Minister was Minister Michelle O'Neill; is that right?
 - A. That's correct.
- Q. She had made a statement to the Assembly about the scheme on 22 December 2016, in which she said that the decision was to follow the English model for the Northern Irish scheme; is that correct?
- A. That's correct and that included an uplift to payments that had been agreed in England that year as well. So that was all rolled together.
- Q. I appreciate you weren't in post at the point that that decision was made but I just want to explore with 74

that were presented to the Minister in the latter part of 2016. It looks as though the cost of adopting a Scottish approach would have been considerable in the short-term. There were significant one-off costs and then it would have had a greater running cost as well. That's what I can see, just looking at the papers. I wasn't, as I say, involved in any of that.

Q. Equally, do you know -- are you aware of the reasonswhy the English scheme was chosen to follow?

- A. Well, ultimately, the Minister made that decision in December so I imagine she looked at the material that had been presented to her in the previous submissions.
 I think the officials started to present her with the options mid-year and there were several submissions -- I think they're attached as evidence -- that then ultimately led to her decision in December.
- Q. Was there any consultation, in as far as you're aware, with those that were infected and affected prior to the Minister taking this decision in December 2016 to follow the English scheme?
- A. My understanding is that there was a UK-wide consultation during 2016 and the figures I've seen, that 2 per cent of respondents were from Northern Ireland, but we weren't ever provided, as I understand it, a breakdown of what people from Northern Ireland's

75

1 views were. I mean, they're small numbers so there 1 Northern Ireland to have this situation where we had 2 2 would be an issue with that, I appreciate. no Northern Ireland Executive, no Northern Ireland 3 3 The consultation report was published and we had Assembly, no direct rule and, therefore, no ministers 4 access just to the published information, nothing 4 in any department (we had no Minister of Health) and 5 else, as I understand it. 5 that that went on for three years was totally 6 Q. So other than that UK-wide consultation there wasn't 6 unexpected and unprecedented, I think, from a point of 7 a specific consultation with Northern Ireland infected 7 view of a civil servant in Government. 8 8 and affected community about the proposal and then the Q. So just to explore with you a little bit about what 9 9 decision to follow the English scheme? that meant on the ground in practice for the 10 A. That's correct, as I understand it, yes. 10 Department of Health, I understand from your witness 11 Q. Moving on then to the position once there was no 11 statement that what that meant was that the 12 Northern Ireland Assembly and the Department of Health 12 permanent secretary, Richard Pengelly, was the person 13 13 was left without a minister, was consideration given, that was the decision-maker for the Department of 14 insofar as you are aware, to Westminster exercising 14 Health; is that right? 15 15 direct rule? A. Ultimately, yes. In the absence of a minister it 16 A. Well, at the highest level I think that's something 16 falls to the permanent secretary that's correct. 17 17 that is really beyond this discussion. There were Q. What powers and what restrictions on those powers does 18 political talks throughout the three years of 18 the permanent secretary have in those circumstances? 19 suspension. They ebbed and flowed in terms of the 19 What are the principles that are applied? 20 possibility of success. As civil servants in the 20 A. Yes, we were issued, actually, with some guidance in 21 administration, we were not sighted on the detail of 21 2017, after a few months -- I think it was in the 22 22 that, and at any time within that three years I guess first part of the year -- on how to conduct ourselves 23 23 we could have had the restoration of the devolved in the absence of ministers because already that had gone on for quite some time. And, subsequently, that 24 24 Government here. It was totally unprecedented in the history of 25 25 guidance -- this was issued from the director or the 77 78 1 1 head of Government Legal Service. That was this way, that the ministerial decision had been made 2 2 in December 2016 to follow the English scheme and so subsequently updated, and in 2018, in fact, there was 3 a very significant judicial review in which decisions 3 that was the principle that really applied to the 4 of civil servants in Northern Ireland were overturned 4 decision-making by the Department of Health in 5 5 Northern Ireland until January 2020, when you had because of this issue that those decisions were deemed 6 6 to be not decisions that civil servants should have a minister back at the head of department. That was 7 7 taken without ministers. the key principle that you were following? 8 8 So towards the end of 2018 an Act of Parliament A. Yes, the principle was that we were following the 9 9 was made that basically then resulted in some scheme as it was in 2016, at the time the decision was 10 guidance, which is termed the "Guidance on 10 made, as well as an additional subset of that decision 11 decision-making for Northern Ireland Departments 11 was to uplift the payments in line with the way 12 during the period of Northern Ireland Executive 12 England had uplifted them that year, backdated to 13 formation". So that was towards the end of 2018 and 13 April 2016. So that was the point in time at which we 14 is recognising that this situation was now protracted, 14 lost our minister. 15 it had gone on for nearly two years at that point. 15 Q. Because you were able to set up the scheme during that 16 So from early in 2017 we were issued with 16 period and enter into an agreement for the running of 17 17 guidance on how to conduct ourselves, and essentially the scheme with the BSO and you were able --18 18 A. That's correct, yes. this is all around major policy decisions or policy 19 decisions that would change the policy intent or 19 Q. Yes. And able to issue directions to get the scheme 20 result in significant expenditure, and particularly 20 up and running? 21 expenditure commitments that would go on into the 21 A. That's correct, yes.

Q. Is it right to understand that the key -- well, the provisions of the scheme were tied to what the English scheme was because of the decision of Minister O'Neill

A. Yes, and when it comes to regular payments, we were actually aligned completely until the unexpected announcement in April 2019 of a very significant uplift to the English regular payments to infected beneficiaries. So that was the point of greatest divergence for us. It actually came two years later.

Q. But at the point that the scheme was set up, was there discussion in the Department of Health about, for example, who the beneficiaries should be, whether they should be -- whether the bereaved community should include children and parents of deceased infected members? Was there discussion about whether or not there should be cut-off dates by which time treatment causing the infection should have been provided? Were there discussions about whether those infected with hepatitis B should be included in the scheme?

Were those sorts of discussions had by the Department of Health in Northern Ireland or was it simply a question of saying: our hands are tied, effectively, to what the English scheme is, and if the English scheme says X, we have to say X?

A. Yes, I think once we got to 2017 that was the situation we were in. I can't speak for going back to 2016. Certainly from my perspective -- and I just have to stress here that this is actually quite

- question is more a matter of principle. Given the situation that you were in at that time, could you have actually made any changes to -- could you have departed from what was in the English scheme when you
 - A. Well, it was very difficult for us to do anything that would have incurred significant and recurrent financial commitments because the permanent secretary is the accounting officer in the Department and the person in that role is required to have a business case for -- underpinning public expenditure, and so it is quite difficult to make long-term commitments and, I mean, the other point that's made in the guidance is to be very, very careful if you're going to tie the hands of a future Minister with any decision that you take as a civil servant in this situation that we're in, albeit the extremely unusual situation where we had no minister for a very long period of time.

So I think if you're taking the hepatitis B point and the parents and children, those would have -- if they had been discussed and opened up for consultation, would have led to -- potentially led to ongoing recurrent financial commitments that we didn't feel we were in a position to make those decisions without a Minister. That's a hypothetical answer, a small part of my role, I have a very, very broad scope to my role, you know, covering health improvement and all aspects of health protection policy as well as emergency planning response. So this is quite a small part of my job so I wouldn't be involved in detailed discussions all the time. You know, that's delegated to my team.

But I would say that on parents and children I can't recall any representations to us about that (unclear: audio interference) specific discussions about that since I came into post and, similarly, hepatitis B, that's never come across my desk in the time I've been here -- and, I'm sorry, I can't remember the middle point you asked me about in the grouping --

- Q. The scheme provides that treatment causing the infection, if one is infected with hepatitis C, must have taken place before September 1991 and HIV is February 1992.
- 20 A. Yes. Yes, again, until I got asked that in a Rule 9 request, I hadn't been involved in any discussions 22 about that.
 - Q. So that's a factual answer, that, in fact, those matters never came across your desk and there weren't those discussions, insofar as you're aware, but my

1 though, because we didn't come cross those, yes. 2 Q. What I'm trying to understand is the extent to which 3 you were tied to the English scheme and the extent to 4 which you could have come up with a scheme that was 5 slightly different. I'm putting to one side the issue 6 about not -- the expenditure issue. But if you wanted 7 to make a different decision, which wouldn't 8 necessarily increase expenditure, would you have been 9 able to, given the ministerial decision in 10 December 2016 to follow the English scheme and the 11 fact you were a Department without a Minister? As 12 a matter of principle, would you have been able to depart from the English scheme?

A. Well, we felt that we couldn't and, reading the guidance, we didn't think we could and we felt that that was our best guide to what we should be doing in these three years, as it turned out to be -- three years -- was to adhere to the last ministerial decision we had and, again, the guidance does refer to that. You refer back to the last ministerial decision or the position of the last Minister you had, and you are to abide by that decision, unless there's a very strong case to do otherwise.

It is worth us saying here -- and I don't know if you're going to come to this later -- but we didn't stop working on this. I mean, our work ebbed and flowed and we're very small in the Department, you know, in terms of the number of people dedicated to this. It was part of one person's job in my team. But we didn't stop through these years, and particularly in 2019, we did extensive work to see if we could create a business case for our permanent secretary to make decisions on the back of. We didn't ever have to deploy that because, very grateful as we were, the Executive was restored and Minister Swann came to lead our Department and, in fact, the work that we had done during 2019, the financial analysis and economic analysis that we'd done under Richard Pengelly's leadership, helped to inform what we presented to Minister Swann when he came into post and assisted with rapid decision-making then.

So the time wasn't wasted, albeit that I fully accept that had we had a minister we could have moved quickly to decisions, and of course, ultimately, as Minister Swann has talked about this morning, he made decisions that, in fact, in regular payments mean that none of our beneficiaries are worse off than their English counterparts, if you like.

Q. Just trying to understand the way that you were having to manage the Department of Health business during the

Q. I will try to remember that. Let me just make a note for myself.

So the scheme that was set up in December 2017 was a scheme that echoed the English scheme; is that your understanding? Was that what you were -- was that your aim?

- A. Yes, that was our aim. And unfortunately for us England had proceeded with a consultation during 2017 in which they actually introduced, subsequently, the Special Category Mechanism that enhanced support for hepatitis stage 1 -- hepatitis C stage 1, and also income top-ups. So I think by the end of that year we had already lost parity on those things. And they're things that we did consider looking at more closely during the subsequent year but, again, we came head on into this problem that we didn't know when we would get a minister back. We believed that we (unclear: audio interference) minister to make significant decisions, which, in the most extreme case, would have doubled our annual recurrent cost of the scheme. So we did have to delay that. And as Minister Swann said, these are things that we are now going to look
- Q. So why, if the last ministerial decision was parity time when there was no minister, you've talked about 1 2 the principle of trying to stay true, if I can put it 3 that way, to Minister O'Neill's decision, that really 4 being the key principle that you were applying. 5 You've spoken in your witness statement about 6 something you call the "inescapable pressure". Can 7 you tell us a bit about what that means and how that 8 factored into decision-making.

- A. I'd need to see the context. If you could tell me where exactly that is, maybe that would help.
- Q. I think you say -- I think it's in the context of saying that you would follow Government policy, making decisions -- that you can make decisions that might involve additional spending or a change in policy where there is an inescapable pressure, and you talk about it in the context of it perhaps leading to legal consequences.
 - A. What I might do, if you don't mind, if you can just give me the reference so I can look at that, and maybe we could come back to that after the break, because I would just like to really see what it is you are referring to there.
- Q. Before we break shall I give you the reference and I can come back and ask you about that and you can have a look at that over the break?

with the English scheme, did the Department feel it was unable to introduce Special Category Mechanism when the scheme began so that there would be parity with the English scheme?

A. Well, I think my interpretation of the papers I've seen it's parity with the English scheme as it was. It wasn't necessarily saying that the commitment was to track everything that changed in the English scheme, particularly, as I've just pointed out, if all the stage 1 hepatitis C beneficiaries received extra support that could, in fact, double the cost of our entire scheme.

So the decision that Minister O'Neill made included the uplift in 2016 because that was a financial commitment. So our interpretation was that any further financial commitment would need a ministerial support and, if not, it needed a business case which, as I said, we did start working on. We deferred rather than didn't decide, and we continue to work on it and we knew what it was that a permanent secretary would need to have at their disposal if they were going to make decisions in the absence of Minister and we strove to acquire information and analysis to assist in supporting that decision, if the situation had gone on any longer.

- Q. So would you accept that by taking the approach that one had to consider the English scheme, as it were, frozen in time, in December 2016 that, in fact,
 Northern Ireland ended up departing from the English scheme right from the very beginning of the scheme's existence?
 A. It did, in respect to the Special Category Mechanism
 - A. It did, in respect to the Special Category Mechanism that was introduced and the income top-ups, but in regular payments we were aligned until April 2019 when, unexpectedly, the announcement was made in England and we weren't prepared for that. So --
 - Q. You have said that on a couple of occasions, that announcement was unexpected. Was there no warning at all from England that they were going to uplift their payments?
- 16 A. Not in my recollection, no.

- Q. The Department took the same approach in April 2019 that really they had to stick to parity with the English scheme as it was in December 2016 and couldn't make a decision for there to be parity in April 2019; is that right?
- A. That's right but I think the very obvious widening of disparity that occurred because of that announcement meant that we diverted resources back into doing more analytical work to try to build a business case to

- would obviously be ideal. But it's very challenging to do that, as I'm sure you'd be aware, and in discussing it we did realise the challenge in doing something like that.
 - Q. So consideration of doing it but decision not to do it because of the challenge?
 - A. Well, as I said, we did do some work on, you know, looking at costs of living differentials and that sort of thing. So taking it more not from the individual but from the point of view of beneficiaries in Northern Ireland versus beneficiaries in other parts of the United Kingdom. But that's as far as we went with that because we'd -- you know, engagement directly with beneficiaries is difficult for the department for reasons of the confidentiality that beneficiaries wish to retain. So, you know, if you're talking about a needs assessment that's based on individual needs, that's a very sensitive area. So, no, we didn't progress anything on that further.
 - Q. Just sticking then with parity and taking the story through, we heard evidence from Minister Swann this morning and he deferred a number of questions to you, so I'm just going to pick those questions up with you.

What engagement was there between the Department of Health Northern Ireland and Westminster about the present to our permanent secretary, which he would have needed to make a decision. So it was a factor in our picking up that work again in the second half of 2019.

As well as that, there had been a meeting -- I think it was in July 2019, I'd have to look at my timeline on that -- where there was -- the four nations' Ministers met about the whole issue of parity, presumably because this disparity had opened up because of that announcement in England on regular payments for affected beneficiaries, and our permanent secretary attended that in the absence of a Minister. So they very actively picked up conversations then on a four nations' basis about the schemes and about parity which we have remained engaged in ever since.

- Q. Has there been any assessment of the needs or losses of the infected and affected community at any stage that you're aware of by the Department of Health in Northern Ireland?
- A. I'm not aware of any assessments like that but it was definitely a topic of conversation between ourselves and our permanent secretary on a number of occasions in 2019 because, again, taking a purely sort of Government expenditure point of view, assessing the need and then matching the public spending to the need

90

- 1 changes to the scheme between January and March 2021?
 2 A. January and March 2021. So we're right forward into
- 3 this year?4 Q. Yes.
 - A. My team engaged frequently on a four nations' basis, and I'm talking every two weeks or four weeks there's meetings, and they had been discussing parity right through the previous years in fact and how to each that, and there'd been various bits of financial analysis done. And I understand there was financial analysis done leading up to March as well to gather the current costs of the scheme, categories of payment and compare between the four nations.

I haven't been very involved in this myself since the start of last year due to the Covid responsibilities I have, and continue to have, but my team have been doing that work, quite detailed work.

Q. So as a sort of general question, you have spoken about the lack of advance notice in April 2019 from Westminster Government about uplift and there's reference in the papers from 2016 to, again, problems with Westminster not giving advance notice to the department in Northern Ireland. Has there been a different approach in relation to the parity discussions this year?

- A. My impression is that there has been right up until 1 2 the very last, and I understand that right at the very 3 end there was a slight change in direction -- well, 4 it's quite a significant change in direction, in fact, 5 which was only communicated to us with about one and 6 a half hours' notice. We needed to get clearance from 7 our Department of Finance, so it was relating to the 8 length of time that we would be in receipt of funds to 9 fund the uplifts. We had been on the understanding 10 that it would be for six years and very, very late in 11 the day the news came through that no, it would only 12 be for three years, with us picking up the recurrent 13 costs thereafter. So it's obviously very significant 14 ongoing financial commitment. So that did wrong-foot 15 us a bit and cause a huge amount of pressure on my 16 team getting clearance from our finance and --17 Department of Finance to agree to take on that 18 additional recurrent cost. I think the generality of 19 it I think was more engagement than we had had in the 20 past, my understanding. 21
 - In relation to the announcement about the compensation framework, was that something that you had been in discussion with Westminster about prior to the announcement on 25 March this year?

A. Personally none but I understand from my team that had to deflect all your energy into the preparations for these sessions today. The team has not been able to do a lot else in the recent past. But this is -we're in phase 2 of the three phases of our review, which Minister Swann outlined this morning, and this was going to be part of that anyway, so we'll just be moving on with that very quickly. As Minister Swann said we intend to do this in consultation with the infected and affected beneficiary communicate.

So we haven't yet worked out exactly how we're going to do that but it's really top priority, as soon as we get through today, if you like.

- Q. So if I can just press you a bit more on that, what does that mean in terms of weeks, months? I appreciate that it's a ballpark figure but are you able to give us a ballpark figure as to how long it would take to consult and design and implement such a scheme?
- A. I couldn't do that at this point because we haven't worked out precisely how we're going to do it. It's obviously a delicate area and doing that kind of consultation needs to be done with care. We know there's divergent views, quite vastly divergent views, on it within the community itself. So we need to do it with care.

1 they weren't involved in that either.

- Q. So that was, if you like, a surprise in the 25 March announcement?
- 4 A. That's my understanding, yes.
 - Q. Do you know or have any understanding of when funding will be made available by Westminster so the new payments can be made?
- 8 A. No, I don't have a time-frame. I think the intention 9 is this will be all done within this financial year 10 but I don't have a time-frame for when money will be 11 made available. This is the third of the three years, 12 so that's something that means that, even from very 13 soon, we're going to have to find the additional 14 money. But, yes, I understand that this would be done 15 within this financial year.
- 16 Q. So the money that you hope to get very soon will be 17 effectively back payments that arise from 18 the announcements and then you need to fund those 19 ongoing costs yourself?
 - A. That's correct, yes.
- 21 Q. Do you have a time-frame for how long it will take the 22 Department to consult on, develop and implement the 23 equivalent of the Special Category Mechanism?
- 24 A. I think this is really next on our work list. As 25 I think Minister Swann stated this morning, we have

I mean, the backdating gives some cover in that there's going to be a backdating of these payments. But, obviously, we want to move as quickly as we can, as Minister Swann has said himself, we don't want to hang round and he's shown his track record this year is he's moved as quickly as he can since he got into post to get decisions made.

- Q. Does the Department have a preferred model at the moment in mind, between the existing Welsh, Scottish, 10 English model?
- 11 A. No, we have an open mind on this. We need 12 consultation to be real and open. We don't want to go 13 in with pre-conceived ideas. The point of the 14 consultative approach is that we take on board all the 15 different types of approaches that we might adopt and 16 it might be none of the above. You know, I don't know 17 until we've got into work.
 - Q. I'm going to ask you some questions now on the approach the scheme has taken to various different beneficiaries and payments, and so on, so a slight change of topic.

We understand from evidence that you've given and other witnesses that not -- when the Alliance House organisations were providing data on beneficiaries to the new schemes, they provided very limited data and didn't provide information about those beneficiaries who had applied to the Alliance House organisations and been rejected. Is that the same for Northern Ireland, that you didn't receive a list of names and contact details for those that were rejected by the Alliance House organisations?

 A. That's correct, as I understand it, and just to make

10

12

13

14

15

- A. That's correct, as I understand it, and just to make it clear that the Department of Health wouldn't be in receipt of that information anyway. It would be the BSO as the administrators but my understanding is that that information wasn't made available.
- Q. Do you know or what would be the attitude of the BSO to an application from such a person? Would they say "You got rejected by the Alliance House organisations, therefore we're not even going to consider your application" or would they consider the application on its merits?
- A. I can't speak for them but I know that they have a without prejudice sort of basis of considering applications but I think you'd have to take that up with them.
- Q. Do you know what steps they have taken to identify newbeneficiaries?
- A. We have -- I just go back to some of the documents that were in the papers. There has at various times

- there more, which is non-financial but is obviously very valuable to the people who are availing of that service.
- 4 Q. Does the Department ask or does the BSO undertake any 5 kind of analysis of the scheme members or 6 beneficiaries to establish whether there might be some 7 gaps, ie areas of the country where there are no 8 beneficiaries, so it may be the clinical network's not 9 working terribly well in passing down the messages in 10 that area, or cohorts of patients, for example, those 11 who might have sickle cell anaemia or thalassaemia, or 12 cohorts that aren't well represented as beneficiaries in the scheme, is that kind of work undertaken? 13
 - A. I'm not aware but I think that would need to be addressed to them. We're not doing any work like that but --
- 17 Q. And you're not instructing them to do any work like18 that?
- 19 A. No. no.

15

- Q. Does the Department know whether there are any members or beneficiaries who have become infected via their treatment for sickle cell anaemia or for thalassaemia on the scheme?
- A. I'm not aware one way or the other on that.
 I wouldn't be presented with that kind of detail.

been approaches to different parties in Northern Ireland to try to get the message out there to make sure people are aware of the scheme who might be eligible and I do know that there's been material put on the websites, BSO website, our own website last year -- 2019, we put a page up about this and nidirect, which is the Government portal in Northern Ireland

There's also -- the clinicians who deal with people I know are very active in making sure that, as much as possible, they're aware of what benefits might be available to them or, sorry, what financial support might be available to them. I know that from the meetings I've been in with them.

So there's been a certain amount of publicity around the Inquiry and I think that's, you know, been a good thing in getting the message out there about the support schemes, and we do know, though, that there's more that we could do and it's, therefore, one of the work streams in our phase 2 of the review.

I know from my team they're considering, in fact, actively going to do a sort of leaflet and poster-type of approach for GPs' surgeries, and so forth, to just publicise the scheme, particularly the psychological support, which we think we could get out

- 1 Q. Do you know whether that's information that the scheme 2 collects?
- 3 A. I don't know, I'm afraid.
 - Q. Just understanding broadly the division of responsibility, if I can put it that way, between the BSO running the scheme and the Department of Health, is it right to understand that the Department of Health makes the policy decisions and the scheme implement them?
 - A. Broadly speaking, yes.
- Q. And so in terms of looking at, for example, the eligibility criteria for somebody to apply to come on to the scheme, the Department of Health would set out what that eligibility criteria is, who the categories of beneficiaries are, how they would have had to have become infected and so on, and then those applications would be determined by the BSO?
- A. That's correct. And the service level agreement setsout those criteria.
- Q. In relation to discretionary payments, it is a little bit different, isn't it, because is it right that the Department of Health not only sets the criteria but also carries out the assessment of the applications?
 - A. Yes, that's correct. This was something that was caught by our suspension of the Executive at the start caught by our suspension of the Executive at the start of 2017, before we got to develop a policy about this. So what we've done in order to make it as objective as possible is we've made those determinations based on the English guidance and we also -- within my team there's one person that looks at those and then their manager signs them off. So it's not just one person.

I accept that it's not ideal. It's something that we would like to sort out. We do foresee, though, that the more substantial changes that needed to be made, which are the ones that Minister Swann has made around uplifting the regular payments, should make these discretionary grants less necessary for people but, yes, the absence of a Northern Ireland policy was difficult because we didn't have a policy that we could hand to BSO and ask them to do that for us. However, we have -- as I say, we've used the English guidance, which is reasonably clear, and in that way have had some consistency, I think, over our decision-making.

Q. So just asking you a couple of questions in relation to that. So there are two what I understand to be discretionary payments available on the scheme. One is one-off grants and the other is income top-up. Is it right to understand that the department assesses the applications for both those types of discretionary transferred over from the Alliance House organisations with income top-up applications, and those income top-up applications were honoured, if I can put it that way, by the scheme, so that they wouldn't lose any money. Is that right?

- A. That's right, yes.
- Q. There is reference in the information that's been provided to the Inquiry by, I think, Karen Bailey, that there have been three applications for income top-up but only one of those has succeeded. Does that -- is that your understanding?
- A. I'm afraid I don't have first-hand knowledge of that.
 That would either have to be directed to them or I'd need to come back to you on it.
 - Q. Are you aware of the response to the 2020 survey in which many beneficiaries responding to that survey were unaware that there were income top-up payments? Is that something that's come across your desk?
 - A. Yes, I am aware of that and it links back to your question about the publicity. I suppose, just linking to that, I probably should say that BSO have written out to beneficiaries -- so, this is current beneficiaries. Perhaps what your earlier question I think was about, people who aren't beneficiaries, are they aware of the scheme, whereas this is a little

1 payments?

A. The answer I've just given you is for the grants.

I beg your pardon if I didn't fully understand that that was a more embracing question. So that was just -- the answer I've given you is about the grants.

So the income top-ups, we inherited income top-ups and arrangements around income top-ups from the Alliance House organisations and, to my knowledge, we haven't adjusted those. They've remained as they were at that time when we inherited them.

- Q. So is the answer to the question whether or not the department assesses those applications for income top-up -- is the answer to that yes or no?
- A. No.
 - Q. So those are assessed by BSO?
 - A. And we have actually -- recent announcements by the Minister have -- well, when the substantial increases in regular payments were made, the current -- the income top-ups were removed. So we no longer have that there.
- 21 Q. So just --
- 22 A. As part of -- (overspeaking) --
- Q. -- sticking then with the income top-up payments, as I understand the evidence that's been submitted, is this right, that some beneficiaries, 15 beneficiaries, bit about people that are beneficiaries, are they aware of additional things, and I think in 2019 BSO wrote out to everybody to make sure they were aware of all the components of the scheme that they might wish to apply for or avail of in the case of the psychological support.

I also do know that our scheme administrator, you know, is in contact with beneficiaries and with people that are newly coming on to the scheme.

I understand he does run through with them the different types of support that are available.

- Q. So, given that in 2019 that a letter was written out to all the beneficiaries explaining to them what support they could apply for, was it a surprise to you to see the 2020 survey to see that, actually, a lot of people responding to that survey were still unaware that they could apply for income top-up payments?
- A. Yes, the same applies to the psychological support. There was low awareness of that if I recall as well. It was a surprise but then not a surprise because it's just human nature, isn't it? Letters coming through the mailbox might not -- one letter two years ago is probably not enough, and we think we could do more and, as I said, that's in our phase 2 to look at some of these things.

case. We had a situation where political talks were ongoing and we could have had ministers return, and we then did proceed, as time went on, to undertake the financial and economic assessment that was needed to prepare the way for decisions to be taken, either through a business case being presented to Richard Pengelly or through the return of a minister. Q. Turning then on to discretionary payments, and you've already given -- you can take that down, Soumik.

You have already given some evidence in relation to that, but just to give a bit of detail and perhaps take you to a document. You've explained that the department didn't form its own policy in relation to discretionary one-off payments and that you applied the English policy.

Do you know whether or not the English policy was -- whether or not applicants were told that the English policy was being applied? Is that something that was made clear to applicants on the website or in communication with them from the department?

Well, it's interesting because in preparing for this I did ask whether it -- we linked through to it on our website; and we don't. I can't say how it was discussed between the BSO administrator and applicants but I can certainly follow that up if you'd like to is: would you accept that, given that the department were applying this policy, i.e. somebody would only be able to receive a grant for the items that are in the left-hand column and somebody would only receive a maximum of what's set out in the right-hand column, that it would be helpful and fair for the applicant to know that in advance of making the application?

A. Yes, I agree.

Q. Are you aware -- perhaps we will just go through this policy in fact. So that's the table on the first page. And if we go to page 3 -- so, for example, looking at counselling, it explains a little bit about what's available:

"A discretionary payment is available ..."

And it sets out what somebody must provide in order to make the application. So there's a number of bits of evidence that need to be provided. And then there's some additional information about other counselling services there.

And the policy goes through all the various different types of application that can be sought and sets out this kind of information. And at the end of the policy, if we go to the penultimate page -- sorry, I don't have a page number. Yes, sorry, the page before that. It has a list of discretionary payments

know

Q. If we just look at the policy, it's WITN000066015. So that's the English discretionary one-off payment guidance, and it's the table that I want to just draw your attention to.

"Discretionary one-off payment type" is down the left-hand side, and then "Maximum payment" -- per annum we're told at the top of the table -- is on the right-hand side.

So it explains the types of payments that are available and it explains what somebody can expect to get as a maximum in an individual year.

Would you agree that it would be helpful, useful and fair for this information to be provided to applicants who were making applications for one-off grants?

- A. Our intention was to develop our own policy and make that information available. Again, I think we got caught in this hiatus in Government. I accept it's not ideal and that applicants would wish to see this. Now, again, I cannot tell you for sure, I can't tell you from my own firsthand knowledge, whether or not this is shared. This is a question we would have to put to BSO.
- Q. But whatever the answer to that is, my question that will not be considered at the bottom. And it sets out a number of payments, and you'll see the star by the word "considered".

And if we go over the page we see at the end of that that:

"This is not an exhaustive list."

So the reason I wanted to take you through it -Soumik, you can take that down now -- the reason I wanted to take you through that policy or guidance document was just because my next question is: are you aware of whether or not there's any guidance for the department about how to carry out these applications?
And I just wanted to illustrate -- well, just make the point that guidance about how the applications are assessed is not set out in this document.

So my question to you is: is there any guidance that you're aware of that sets out how the department should assess an application for a discretionary grant?

A. I'm not aware of any additional guidance. I think we look to our civil servants, who qualified for their roles and apply judgment and fairness and discipline to what they. So, you know, I understand why you are asking that question but I just want to take you back to what I was saying about our aim would be that

- financial support is sufficient for the beneficiaries, that they do not have to apply for these one-off discretionary grants, that we move away from that and make sure, as we have done with the uplifts and the recent announcements, that financial support is adequate to cover daily household needs and other events and requirements in life that happen not all the time but occasionally and require financial input, if you like.
 - Q. So you've explained that a decision's already been made to stop the discretionary top-up payments. Is there -- has a decision been made about the future of the discretionary one-off grants that we're discussing now?

- A. No, it hasn't yet and it was on our it is on our phase 2 list of things we need to get to. You know, because we know it's not ideal that we're using the English guidance. We need our own policy. But we also have treated all applications on face value. I think there's some indication that the intention was that means testing should be applied, we've never done that. We just accept people's statement of need and then we assess it against those guidelines.
- Q. Can I just take you to some information in your witness statement. Your witness statement is at percentage of successful applications for each financial year: 2017/2018, 67 per cent; 60 per cent; 73 per cent; 100 per cent.

Can you give us an explanation as to why the applications have become increasingly successful?

- A. I can't because I don't know the details but I can tell you something about this and this is that it's very small numbers and you'll know that if you've got very small numbers then it doesn't take much to shift a percentage. So I think that's the comment I would make about that.
- Q. Can I -- you can take that down now, Soumik. I'm going to ask you some questions now about the other -some questions of detail about the new payments that have been announced, again these are questions that were deferred by Minister Swann this morning.

So can we turn up the announcement, please. It's 5570018. This is the announcement -- the written ministerial statement by Minister Swann, and if we can go down to the bottom of that page to the bullet points please, the first one:

"payments for non-infected bereaved spouses or partners will increase from 75 per cent of the deceased beneficiary's annual payment to an automatic 100 per cent [for] the first year, with 75 per cent WITN5570021, just to understand it in a bit more detail how these applications are assessed. So you -- WITN -- sorry, I've given you the wrong reference. WITN557 -- sorry, WITN4066001. It's your witness statement and if we can go to page 21. Sorry, I've given you again the wrong number. 4066002, page 21.

So you've explained that when you have an application in you look at the statement of need and, by that, do you mean the reason that the person says they need the discretionary grant?

- A. That's right, yes.
 - Q. Then known means testing is carried out. So is this right, that if the Department is satisfied that the person needs it, then they will get it?
- A. Well, if the Department is satisfied that it meets the -- it meets the requirements of the guidance that we're applying, then it will be agreed, regardless of any financial hardship being evidenced or not.
- Q. So if it's one of the categories of grants that appeared in that left-hand table of the EIBSS guidance, then the grant's likely to be made, to be awarded?
- 23 A. That's correct, yes.
- Q. So we look -- can we look at paragraph 16.1 of thedocument that's on the screen and we can see the

... in subsequent years ... in line with policy in Scotland ... backdated to 1 April 2019 ..."

The question is: why is it only backdated to 1 April 2019?

- A. Well, my understanding -- and I wasn't involved in any direct discussions about this, due to my current role with coronavirus regulations, and so on, but I would say that my understanding is that those dates were given to us by Cabinet Office, I think it was. But I can see the rationale when I look at this because that was the date at which the regular payments were uplifted for infected beneficiaries. So when I look at this, I can see that pattern and that the lump sums go back to April 2017, because then it captures everybody who is in our schemes. So that's how I see that distinction, though my understanding is that we weren't responsible for those decisions about those -- selection of those dates.
- Q. The same question is asked about the second bullet point, which is in relation to the introduction of enhanced support payments for hepatitis C stage 1 beneficiaries, so Special Category Mechanism or its counterpart. Again, the same question: what would your response be to that?
- A. It would be the same answer because enhanced support

- SIR BRIAN LANGSTAFF: Well, I will leave it there but 10 11 thank you very much. We'll come back then at 5 to 4, 12 shall we?
- MS SCOTT: Sorry, can I just refer -- can I just make two 13 14 points to -- one generally, which is that my point 15 entirely I think I have been -- my fault entirely, 16 I think I've been, certainly at one point, certainly, 17 possibly more, suggested that it was the Northern 18 Ireland Assembly that collapsed and, in fact, it was 19 the Northern Ireland Executive. Is that right?
 - A. Well, yes. The institutions, I suppose, all go together but, yes, we tend to talk about it as the Executive, the power-sharing Executive, which is the like the Cabinet of Ministers, if you like, in Northern Ireland, to just to equate it to English arrangements.

A. We put in place psychological services -- support services as part of the support we wanted to provide to the Inquiry, to people who might be affected by the Inquiry, and this was done -- a commitment was made in this Department to fund those services through the Belfast Health and Social Care Trust for the duration of the Inquiry, initially three years, it's been rolled over into this year.

> However, we do recognise the need for this on an ongoing basis and it's part of our phase 2 review to consider how that might be progressed and I know the Belfast Trust itself is looking at this, recognising the value and having had very positive feedback from people who have utilised the service. So it's certainly something we're looking at how we could continue that and put it on a more sustainable footing.

- Q. So those services aren't, strictly speaking, provided by the scheme but they are promoted by the scheme, is that right, to scheme members?
- A. That's right. At the moment they're funded within the envelope for admin costs and legal costs that we have associated with responding to the Inquiry but we do want to change that as we go forward and we'll be looking to the Inquiry's recommendations as well on

Q. Yes, I'd been asked to clarify that with you, and the second thing I wanted to raise with you, Ms Redmond, was I have been handed up all the references in your witness statement to the phrase "inescapable pressure" because I think you wanted to have a look at that over the break, and those are at: page 6, paragraph 2(b).9; page 9, 2(d).1; and page 14, 7.3 -- in your second witness statement I should make that clear.

SIR BRIAN LANGSTAFF: I think it is the first of those 10 that actually defines what is meant, isn't it?

11 MS SCOTT: Yes, it is.

A. I was going to look at that over the break.

SIR BRIAN LANGSTAFF: If you need a cup of tea and don't 13 14 want to do it until later, by all means. It is 15 something you can respond to later should you wish. 16 But if you do, we would be grateful. 17

But for the moment we will come back at 3.55.

- Q. Does the scheme provide access to benefits advisers for members? We've heard that that's available to the English and Scottish membership. Is that something that's offered by the scheme in Northern Ireland?
- A. Benefits advisers, did you say?
- A. I'm not aware of that. I might not be the right person to ask but I'm not aware of that.
- 10 Q. We're going to hear evidence tomorrow in Wales but, 11 the information about the Welsh scheme information the 12 Inquiry has at the moment, suggests that they offer 13 a range of non-financial services, including a key 14 worker. Is that something that the Department has 15 ever considered for the Northern Ireland scheme?
 - A. It's not something we have in place now but all of these types of non-financial support are things that we do want to look at. You know, the Minister's priority is to address the immediate financial needs but we are aware that Wales are doing a lot more than us and we're obviously keen to learn from their experiences and, you know, that is something that we'll look at.
 - Q. Moving onto a slightly different topic to ask you about the scheme's relationship with beneficiaries and, indeed, the Department's relationship with beneficiaries or members of the scheme. Are there any 3 formal mechanisms in place for beneficiaries to provide feedback and advice to either the BSO, as 5 administrator of the scheme, and/or the Department as -- who sets policy, on operational matters or on policy?

A. Speaking for the Department, we don't have any regular arrangements. We do receive a lot of correspondence or have, particularly in the last couple of years, to which we respond, and I know my teams have direct contact with various people who have been speaking for beneficiaries.

Certainly, the scheme administrator has a lot of contact with beneficiaries and provides advice in that way. I know he's very committed. Again, I can't speak for them about whether they have any other more formal ways of engaging with beneficiaries but I know that the individual in charge of the scheme -- as you said earlier there's just one person -- is very familiar and has developed a good rapport and I think the feedback through the survey was very positive on that as well.

Something, though, that we are looking at how we take forward the enhanced payments for hepatitis C

A. Honestly, my view is that it's the personal contact and the individual that we have in that role. So the feedback I've had, not even via the surveys, has always been positive. We've worked with him and my team's worked with him over the financial analysis that I talked about that we did in 2019, and through those contacts and through the feedback that I've had I can see that that personal contact is so important and perhaps it's one of those real benefits of having a Northern Ireland scheme because Northern Ireland is a very small place and this scheme membership is quite a low number, compared to the other administrations. So we do really benefit, I think, from having that personal contact.

We lose out on the economies of scale, certainly, as a policy official working in a very small administration, trying to keep up with what's going on in Whitehall, it's very, very challenging. I think everybody across the Department in Northern Ireland would say the same. But on this, on the administration of this scheme, I think that the small scale of it and that personal contact are just -- have worked very well.

And it started well because we really did focus so hard -- I do remember this from my first year in stage 1, we're going to set up some kind of 2 consultation arrangement specifically about that in 3 the very near future.

- Q. So we heard evidence yesterday about the Scottish scheme and they have, for example, an advisory group in place that meets twice a year and provides input into operational matters, how things are done by the scheme, rather than policy matters. Is that something that the Department might consider in phase 2, looking at how the scheme is operating?
- 11 A. Certainly, the whole subject around how we engage, how 12 we communicate, some of the things we talked about 13 before the break about making sure that people are 14 aware that the schemes exist and if they are on the 15 schemes knowing what's available to them. All of 16 those things are part of our consideration in phase 2.
 - Q. You have mentioned the results of the survey. We haven't gone to it, I can go to it if it would be helpful, but one of the outcomes of the survey was that 90 per cent of those that responded rated the service as good. So that I think there were 56 beneficiaries that responded.

Do you have any -- can you assist us as to what the Department's view is about that and why that number is so high? What is working well?

post, how focused we were on not interrupting payments. It was a really big thing for me and my team. We had to get this move seamlessly across into the Northern Ireland scheme and, again, BSO played their part in making sure that that happened. They were very committed to it like we were and there was no interruption in payments. So I think it started well, as well.

Q. Finally from me, just some questions on how the scheme is funding and how that operates. First of all, in relation to the sources of funding. You have told us already that there's funding available from London in relation to the changes that have been made to the scheme and you have explained that that's going to be looking, effectively, at the past three years. It's right, isn't it, that they also provide funding for the HIV element of the scheme and that's been a decision that was made -- that funding has been provided from 2017?

A. Yes, that's right, and I think this dates back to the fact that the HIV schemes were there pre-devolution whereas the hepatitis C schemes were set up after devolution. So what happened, as I understand it, before we had our own scheme, was that Whitehall funded the HIV schemes and we reimbursed the schemes -- the hepatitis C schemes that we were billed, if you like, for that money. So when the scheme came to Northern Ireland, we just directly paid and managed the budget for the hepatitis C. But we had a three-year, I think it was at that time, funding commitment for HIV.

We've subsequently had discussions about that and I understand we are going to get some money this year, but it's falling short of our total costs for various sort of technical reasons.

There's another piece of funding as well, which is we fund lump sums from provisions, which is a pot of money that was set aside quite some time ago, which I understand we can top up if we need it. Again, that's quite administrative sort of technical point. I think the biggest point is that the HIV payments were coming from Whitehall. We don't have any long-term certainty about that and it's caused us -- we've had to top up last year and we will have to do it this year as well -- and possibly even the year before, I would have to refer back -- because we had a shortfall, so we topped up with in-year bids in our own administration.

So we haven't got certainty over future years on that.

- Q. You have explained that there's a difficulty arising because there's no long-term commitment to that part of your funding, which causes obvious difficulties in terms of looking to the future. Is there a further has there been a further difficulty with the information from Whitehall about how much you are going to get coming in late?
 - A. Yes, yes. That -- and there's some exchanges, I think that are in the documents, that are between a former staff member of mine and people over in London about that, yes. But I do understand that we have been told that we will get the money this year.
- 13 Q. Have you been told how much at all?
- A. It's come late in the year. This is the thing, it tends to come towards the end of the calendar year, so it doesn't give us a lot of time to sort it out, particularly now these shortfalls seem to be happening.
- 19 Q. Have you been told how much it's going to be yet or is 20 that information that's to come?
- A. I don't have that information but my understanding is, no, we haven't got that yet.
- Q. So you know it's coming for the next year but afterthat you don't know; is that the position?
- 25 A. No, we know it's coming for this year.

Q. So just sticking on that point then, you said that the payments fall short of what it actually costs to run the HIV part of the scheme, if I can put it like that.
 It's right, isn't it, that in fact the provision from Whitehall has reduced in recent years, hasn't it? Is it 2019/2020, the provision was £53,000 less than it had been the year before? Is that your understanding?

8 A. Yes, that's right. And my understanding is that 9 that's because the way they calculate their funding 10 transfer to us is based on the types of payments. So 11 the regular payments they just reimburse us in full, 12 whereas the discretionary element of that is based on 13 the Barnett consequentials. I think I've got that 14 right. And because their discretionary component of 15 their payments is reduced -- because of all the things 16 we've been talking about, their overall regular 17 payments have increased, so there's less call upon 18 those discretionary payments -- it means that the 19 discretionary payments part of that funding hasn't 20 been enough to meet our needs. 21

Q. Because their discretionary payment need reduced. But Northern Ireland's didn't because you hadn't put your annual payments up so there was still a requirement for discretionary payments?

25 A. That's, in a nutshell, my understanding of it, yes.

130

1 Q. This year. And you don't know any further into the future?

A. No.

23

24

12

13

14

15

16

4 Q. In terms of how the funding works for the scheme 5 overall, you have mentioned provision and that's a pot 6 of money that is -- sort of, uses a reserve fund, is 7 that right, out of which you pay for discretionary 8 support, so income top-ups and discretionary grants 9 and hepatitis C lump sum payments and bereavement 10 payments for hepatitis C beneficiaries; is that 11 correct?

A. Yes, lump sums and discretionary support, yes.

Q. And that, as I understand from the information that's been given to the Inquiry, in 2017 was a pot of £1 million and it's now a pot of around about £0.5 million?

17 A. Yes, I think it's even lower than that now. I think 18 the latest numbers are more around 200,000, yes. But 19 I questioned that and I understand we can just top it 20 up. Our finance team has said that.

Q. Then the annual ongoing payments are paid for out of the Department's budget, are they?

A. That's right. They come out of our programme budget.
 So they will be part -- it's goes back to the question that you had just before the break about inescapable.

So we put these -- as part of the budgeting exercise, when we basically put our budgetary expectations across the Department of Finance, we'll be segregating things into what is inescapable and what's more optional proactive policy work that we'll want to fund.

So these have always been considered to be inescapable payments that we're committed to making. So if we have a short fall during the year, we'll use an in-year monitoring round to make that up. So, particularly if there's increases in payments that we haven't got in our budget baseline, we'll have to go back in the in-year monitoring to obtain that money.

- Q. So the short point is that, even if the scheme for whatever reason goes over budget, it's fully funded by the Department and the money will be found to make the payments the scheme needs to make?
- A. Well, we don't manage it that way. We seek to manage it so that we actually live within our budget as a Department. But, you know, we consider these to be inescapable payments so they're always given priority in the budget. But obviously there's a lot of calls on the health budget so it leads back to the things we discussed in the first session, that we do have to plan for these in budgetary terms.

- 1 know about it from BSO and we will then transfer more 2 money to them to meet that, and then we'll have to 3 square it up with either finding it within the 4 Department's budget through underspend or through 5 going back to the Department of Finance in an in-year 6 monitoring bid, yes.
 - Q. You took the opportunity over the tea break to look at your witness statement and "inescapable pressure". Is there anything that you wanted to say in relation to that? You have referred to it already but --
 - A. Yes. It certainly links to what we were just talking about. I can see that the first and second references that you gave me related to the commitment that Michelle O'Neill made in 2016 to increase the regular payments in line with England's increases backdated to April 2016. So that's what they related to.

And then the third reference was relating to how we dealt with the £50,000-odd deficit in the HIV money that came from DHSC that -- last year I think it was.

So it's really an illustration, I guess, of that, that we didn't receive enough money so we bid for that difference. We found that money.

- Q Recause --
- A. The scheme -- because it's inescapable. So the scheme wasn't deprived of that money. I think that's the

Q. Are you aware of whether there has been a time when the scheme, so BSO, have approached the Department and said "We need more money"?

- 4 A. Well, we -- it wouldn't quite work like that because 5 we have a routine way of monitoring their needs. So 6 there are times when they need more money but it's 7 more like that will come up through the iterative way 8 in which we manage the finance, yes. We tend to know 9 about it anyway because of the management information that they share with us. So, yes, I'm not sure if I'm 10 11 getting to the point that you --
 - Q. Let me put it this way we heard evidence from the Alliance House organisations that the way that budgets were managed for those organisations was that the Department of Health gave them, you know, a sum of money, out of which they had to meet all the needs of the beneficiaries for the year and there was no way of coming back to ask for top-ups, if there was suddenly a run on people applying to whatever scheme it was.

So, really, the question is: this is a different arrangement, as I understand it, that the Department funds the needs of the scheme, whatever they are.

A. Yes, that is right and we try to manage what they are so that we're not overspending in the Department but, yes, if there's an in-year pressure on BSO we will

A. It's funded through the Northern Ireland block, which is the distribution to Northern Ireland for all of us of areas to look at. We've touched on many of them today, this afternoon, so you can probably gather from what I've said that there's a lot of work in those things and they won't all be done at once. Some will have to be delayed until we can work through the most urgent, relating to their recent announcements, and that would have the biggest impact.

And that one I think -- I was asked earlier how long's that going to take, the enhanced payments work,

And that one I think -- I was asked earlier how long's that going to take, the enhanced payments work and, again, we haven't set up the structures yet to take that work forward. We want to consult on it and take on board the range of views expressed by beneficiaries and affected people. So I actually can't give you the project plan for that yet. The team's been, as I mentioned earlier, very involved in addressing the needs of the Inquiry but I hope after today we will be able to turn our attention fully to that.

- SIR BRIAN LANGSTAFF: One of the first steps, as you've described it, or as it's been described, is consulting with the beneficiaries. When do you expect that to take place?
- A. Again, I can't give you a very specific answer to that. I think that wouldn't be right for me to do that until we've had time to develop a plan ourselves for how we're going to approach it. But our intention is to move on to that piece of work immediately after guidelines around making decisions and a process around making decisions around those grants, and we weren't able to do that for the reasons that we've covered.

We often, though, I would say, in a small administration such as ours, turn to resources from other administrations, who are more greatly, for obvious reasons, resourced, so I know, for sure, we would have been looking at guidance that was used in other places, including the English guidance, in developing our own policy.

In the absence of our own policy we applied the guidance that England had developed in a systematic way and, you know, I say it's not ideal because we'd always rather have had a Northern Ireland policy agreed by Northern Ireland Ministers.

SIR BRIAN LANGSTAFF: So the question about what is ideal is not necessarily a question of what the result would be but it's more about the question of the process; that is, that it's ideal for Northern Ireland to have a Northern Irish process. Is that the point?

A. That's right, yes. It's always preferable for us to have had an opportunity to develop our approach and put it to ministers for agreement before we use it and, as I've referred to, we often do draw on this

2 SIR BRIAN LANGSTAFF: So the intention is to do it 3 immediately but how long do you think it will take you 4 to develop a plan as to how you're going to approach 5 it?

- A. I haven't had a chance to discuss that with the team, I'm sorry. But if you're interested in that, once we're more precise -- we can be more precise then perhaps we can come back to you on that, rather than me trying to magic it out now.
 - SIR BRIAN LANGSTAFF: I certainly don't want you to make policy on the hoof but if and when you do know, and I appreciate you have limited resources, but if you do find something more definite that can be said then we'd love to hear it.

The second question was that, earlier in your evidence this morning -- sorry, this afternoon, you said that it wasn't ideal to follow the English guidelines about making discretionary payments. What did you mean? What about it wasn't ideal?

A. Well, this is about the discretionary grants, just tomake that distinction.

SIR BRIAN LANGSTAFF: Yes.

A. Well, our intention had been, had we retained Executive Ministers in 2017, to develop our own resources from other administrations because we are so small. Trying to replicate everything that Whitehall departments do is actually impossible. So we often do draw on other resources and the English guidance which we've been using would have been a key resource for us to look at in developing our own approach, in any case. It's still a job on our list for phase 2 to do just that.

SIR BRIAN LANGSTAFF: The last question, you may not be able to help with this but if you can, please do. The payments which are made annually to beneficiaries, am I right in thinking they are not made in one lump sum, they are made, what, month by month or week by week?

A. They are made either monthly or quarterly depending on the preference of the recipient. So yes, I've said "annual", I call them annual as shorthand, but actually they're not paid in one sum once a year, they're paid in instalments.

SIR BRIAN LANGSTAFF: So it may be that on occasion, as we've heard in looking at the Alliance House organisations, a beneficiary might benefit from having an advance on the payments that he or she has yet to receive but, so long as they survive, is guaranteed to have that year. Is there any mechanism by which a loan, an advance in that sense, can be made or not?
