It would be really helpful if you could share your thoughts with us around any initial response. I don't suppose there is any way we can get sight of it? The patient groups are very active up here with the media. There is to be a news article on Monday around the Penrose Inquiry's powers and they will no doubt refer to recommendations from Archer.

Patrick,

I have just been informed that a copy of the report will be biked over for SoS this afternoon. If you are in agreement it would be helpful I think for you to see this document this afternoon so that you can advise press office with appropriate lines on Monday morning, although obviously those lines should still reflect the fact that we won't have had the time to consider the report fully as we would want to before we make a full response.

I will call when I have received the report to arrange to get it to you.

Thanks

Penelope

Contamination of NHS blood and blood products - Lord Archer's report publishing 23 February

Morven

We spoke. Lord Archer has given notice this afternoon that he will be publishing his independent report on contamination of NHS blood and blood products in the 1970s and 1980s on Monday 23 February. There will be a press conference at Westminster Hall on Monday at 10.30am. I attach Lord Archer's press notice for reference. We will not be sending an official to the PC.

We will circulate lines to take tomorrow morning. We have not seen the report, and the main line will be that we need to study his report in detail, and will consider a response in the light of the public inquiry now under way in Scotland under Lord Penrose. We should only respond in the short term if absolutely necessary, e.g., to correct a gross factual error, or to rebut any accusation of bad faith by DH. (We have no indication at all that Lord Archer intends any such accusation, but some campaigners accuse DH of a cover-up.)
