Dear Lynne,

I hope you are doing well? I was wondering what we might be able to do in terms of getting a stop put to / overturn the below line by Ministers? I think this is important as they may attempt to use a similar line when the Inquiry requests evidence of DH.

Ministers took the line that "All documents up to 1995 are available through the National Archive."

Through a process of identifying the original DH reference numbers for files and cross-referencing I was able to determine that many files were in fact not at the archives and I was able to identify exactly what is missing (this work is on-going). However, I feel I have reached a point where it can be demonstrated without doubt that the line the Government took was untrue, I include examples below...

a) Firstly, in the CBL 8 series of files which concerns the Central Blood Laboratories Authority (this series relates strongly to BPL etc) I identified at least 3 packs were not at the archives that should have been. In a response from DH to one of my FOI requests dated 9th October 2017 this was found to be proven true and DH subsequently agreed to release those 3 packs to the archive, though still they are not available. b) Next, in the HIM 22 series of files which contains a variety of evidence relating to Hepatitis C and blood safety... I identified at least 3 packs which were missing, 2 of which have now been made available as a result but 1 of those packs (HIM 22 VOL 8) is as yet still not available. In a reply I received from DH on 28th February 2018 they said "HIM/022/007/V008 was not requested by the Penrose Inquiry, and therefore will be sensitivity reviewed, redacted and transferred into the relevant series for blood related subjects by the end of the year". https://www.whatdotheyknow.com/request/him\_22\_series\_of\_files\_2#incoming-1119962

In my experience of dealing with these packs, each pack generally contains anywhere from 200 - 400 pages, so these 4 outstanding packs alone are likely to be in the region of 1,000 individual pages of evidence.

I currently have a raft of outstanding FOI requests in which a wide-range of further missing packs are identified to which I am awaiting response from DH, but I believe the above alone demonstrates clearly that the previous Ministerial statements that "All documents up to 1995 are available through the National Archive" was plainly not true. Had it not been for this cross-referencing exercise I think it's safe to say there was no intention by DH to make these available.

Is there anything we can do to get them to withdraw this line and discontinue its use? Do feel free to give me a call if I can help to clarify any of the above. Many Thanks,
