Dear Dr. Miller,

Angus STEWART, Junior GRO-C (5)

GRO-C

This 15 year old boy with von Willebrand's disease had an attack of acute hepatitis in late January of this year which was attributed to a transfusion of factor VIII concentrate given on 1.12.80.

I saw Angus in our clinic today for review. He is symptomatically much improved, although his liver function tests are not yet at baseline. In view of his improvement, I have suggested that he progressively increases his range of activity and resumes school from the beginning of next week.

We shall be continuing to see Angus in our review clinic. At present, we attribute his attack of hepatitis to a non-A non-B virus infection. It can take several months for this type of illness to fully resolve.

Yours sincerely,

P. E. A. Kernoff, MD., MRCP.
